Service, please!

At Prime Cargo, we attach prime importance to professional and attentive service, as well as short response times. Our experience tells us that this is the road to take, if we are to create good and strong relationships with customers and partners.

A good network creates even better solutions

Our network is all about building close, long-term relationships. With shipping companies, aircraft operators and carriers - all over the world. This is only possible as our employees do not just go to work in an office - they rather have the entire world as their playground, to the delight and for the benefit of our customers.
